In the Shaulai sector of the 2,000-mile front, the Soviet high command said that all German attacks had been hurled back with heavy Nazi losses.

Destruction of a German submarine in the gulf of Finland also was claimed.

The communique said the Germans had continued their offensives in the areas of Shaulai, Kovno, Grodno, Volkovysk, Kobrynski and Vladimir Volynsk as well as Brody.

Stiff Resistance
Everywhere, said the announcement, the Germans encountered "stiff resistance from the red armies."

Plan To Speed Up U.S. Aid To Britain In New War Crisis

By KINGSBURY SMITH

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Speeding up of American aid to Great Britain, especially aircraft material, was forecast in authoritative quarters in Washington today as a result of the Russo-German conflict.

Informed American diplomatic quarters said the United States government will do everything possible to hasten the shipment of aeronautical aid to Britain for the greatly intensified aerial offensive the British are expected to launch against Germany in the immediate future.

Plan Great Assault

Diplomatic advices from London indicate the Royal Air Force is planning one of the greatest aerial assaults of the war against Germany in the hope of crippling Nazi war industries before the German armies and air force can finish off the Russians and turn their full attention to the British Isles.

A possibility was seen that a limited number of U. S. Army and Navy pilots may be released temporarily

Reports Of Japan's Attitude

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, June 25.—Official circles in London buzzed today with conflicting reports regarding Japan's decision in the light of the Russo-German war.

The Japanese embassy denied that any plans were being made in Tokyo for participation in the hostilities on the side of Germany despite Japan's axis commitments. International News Service, however, was informed that Japan is drafting certain demands on Russia concerning "safety of the Pacific Coast."

An allied source, however, insisted that a Japanese move against Russia is "imminent."

Following an emergency army, navy and political meeting on June 24, this source said, Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka immediately received Eugen Ott, German ambassador to Tokyo, and conferred with him for an hour.

Reports in London some weeks ago predicted joint German-Japanese demands upon Russia which would prove unacceptable and would be followed by a joint attack on the Soviet Union.

LONDON, June 25.—Blackening the skies of western Europe, the Royal Air Force attacked Germany and occupied France with unparalleled fury today in an effort to stage a flanking movement and aid Soviet Russia by forcing Germany to withdraw a major portion of the Luftwaffe from the eastern front.

The largest daylight raid ever attempted by the R. A. F. was carried out against France today. Details are expected later.

Strike Crippling Blow

The attack had the joint object of striking a crippling blow while Germany is heavily engaged with Russia and of forcing Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering to route his Luftwaffe back to the western front and ease the air raid pressure on the Soviet Union.

The daylight "sweeps" of Germany and the vital Nazi-occupied coastal areas were expected to be followed by a joint attack on the Soviet Union.

BERLIN, June 25.—A sweeping German victory over the vast Red army is imminent, according to a brief but potent forecast published with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's seal of approval today.

A 27-word communique issued from the Fuehrer's field headquarters at some undisclosed point on the eastern front said:

"In the east, fighting of the German army, air force and navy against Soviet armed forces is progressing so advantageously that great successes are to be expected."

Admit Raids

The high command admitted raids by single Soviet planes on the cities of Memel and Koenigsberg, the latter the capital of East Prussia. Casualties "especially among Russian prisoners of war," resulted from the attacks, an announcement said.

Never before in the start of any of his campaigns in western Europe has Hitler's headquarters issued any such optimistic forecast.

For this reason, military officials in Berlin assumed that the brief announcement was a prelude to a major offensive.

Legislature Speeds Anti-Red Action

Bills Are Aimed At Communists

Would Ban Communists From State Relief Rolls And Place On Ballot

HOUSE PREPARES FOR FINAL ACTION

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 25.—Pennsylvania's war-torn legislature today accelerated action on a series of measures designed to ban Communists and subversive groups from state relief rolls and political ballots.

The Senate passed finally and sent to the House for a concurrence a bill that would politically outlaw any "group of electors whose purposes or aims, or one whose purposes or aims, is the establishment, control, conduct, seizure or overthrow of the government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the United States of America by the use of force, violence, military measures or threats of one or more of the foregoing."

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Robert M. Miller, Luzerne Republican, passed 48-0, without debate. Miller, chairman of the legislative committee for the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion, admitted that the proposal was aimed at Communists. The bill was introduced January 28.

See Early Action
The Miller bill provides for a committee composed of the governor, attorney general and the secretary of the commonwealth to decide whether petitions from un-American groups shall be rejected after a proper hearing.

The House pointed for final action by the end of the week two bills that would ban members of subversive groups from the state's relief rolls and deprive Communists of the right to appear as a political party.

Another proposal would prohibit the employment by any governmental agency in the state of any person who advocated the overthrow of the American system of government.

Legislative leaders emphasized there were no assurances that the Miller bill would be favorably acted upon by the House or that the Senate would pass the House bills, thus paving the way for a conference committee to settle amicably upon the final drafts.

A Republican attempt in the House to amend the teachers' tenure law to permit dismissal of teachers charged with subversive teachings was balked by the Democratic majority.

from active service in order to speed up the ferrying of bombers across the north Atlantic to Britain. The war department announced some time ago that army pilots were being released for voluntary service with the Chinese air force.

American civilian ground crews also are going to be sent to Great Britain in rapidly increasing numbers. Several American aircraft companies already have released some of their mechanics for service in Britain and the British government has now opened a regular recruiting office in New York for the enlistment of American civilian mechanics and radio technicians.

Seek Ground Crews

The British are extremely eager to obtain American ground crews for the planes being sent over from this country. Many of the British mechanics are not familiar with the construction of the American planes and the British claim valuable time is lost training their ground crews to handle the American machines.

On the question of direct American aid to Soviet Russia, officials said there is little this government can do at the moment insofar as actual defense materials are concerned.

President Roosevelt pledged that the U. S. would give all the aid it could to Russia. Shortly before he made this pledge, the treasury released some $40,000,000 of Soviet funds from the president's recent general order freezing all funds of continental Europe to enable Russia to buy materials in this country.

Await List Of Needs

The state department still is awaiting a list of required needs from Soviet Ambassador Constantin Oumansky. Indications are that the ambassador would be disappointed if he should ask for military equipment, but that arrangements might be made to facilitate the shipment of cotton, manufactured leather goods such as shoes, and a limited quantity of certain types of machine tools and other non-military articles which the Soviets are known to need.

Complications are considered likely to arise if the Soviet envoys ask for the use of the 11 Baltic ships tied up in American waters. Oumansky has been seeking in vain for months to obtain control of these vessels, but the state department has refused to turn them over on the grounds this government does not recognize Soviet seizure of the Baltic nations.

With the German armies now freeing those nations from Russian control, and with some of them, such as Lithuania, proclaiming their independence again, it would be difficult for this government to justify the transfer of the ships to Soviet Russia. It is considered more likely this government will requisition them for its own use.

Another good way to conserve rubber is to slow down instead of sliding the last fifty feet.

PRESIDENT IN NEW MOVE TO AID RUSSIA

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 25.—In a swift new move to aid Soviet Russia, President Roosevelt today decided to refrain from applying the restrictions of the neutrality act to the Soviet Union.

The president's decision was announced by Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles, who said Mr. Roosevelt had authorized him to announce that he did not intend to proclaim the existence of a state of war between Russia and Germany.

Welles said that normal relations between the United States and Soviet Russia will continue. This action means that there will be no prohibition against the shipment of arms, munitions and other war supplies to Soviet Russia providing the government grants licenses for dispatch of such supplies. Furthermore, American ships will be free to carry supplies to Russian Pacific ports, especially Vladivostok.

GREAT SUCCESSES ARE NOW EXPECTED IN BERLIN REPORT

nouncement covered an offensive spectacular and so vast that the gigantic Soviet military machine is already cracking.

Details Not Given

Details of the German advance for the moment were still blanketed in silence. But first scattered official announcements indicated that the most formidable of Russia's border fortifications had failed to hold and that a path had been opened for Germany's blitz troops to roll en masse toward their objectives.

Soon, military quarters said, the main bodies of the Red army will be compelled to face the German war machine in a series of battles which one of which may rank with Tannenberg, where Russian might was crushed in the last war and Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg became the hero of his generation in Germany.

Assume Reds Defeated

Reports circulated sub rosa in Berlin gave every ground to assume that the Soviets were suffering smashing defeats at every point on the far-flung battlefield. The Red air force, military observers said, is apparently proving "even less resilient" than had been anticipated. Communiques issued in Moscow boasting of Russian victories were shrugged off as "too fantastic to take seriously."

Soviet tanks also were said to be far below par, with the result that German Panzer divisions were able to rip through them like wildfire.

In a single sector, the high command said, the Luftwaffe annihilated 81 Soviet tanks yesterday. Present indications are that the high command will lift the lid on the secrecy surrounding military operations during today or tomorrow at the latest.

KNUDSEN TO TAKE DRASTIC STEPS TO SPEED UP DEFENSE

Knudsen as "Dear Bill," told the O.P.M. director that "I wish you would inform me of it... if any difficulty is experienced in securing the cooperation of any consumer goods industry or plant in transferring any machine to a defense industry." By this the president business as usual must go by the boards and Knudsen said, too, "defense comes first."

Knudsen said every effort will be made not to dislocate industries of communities by ordering shipment of machine tools to defense centers. But if necessary, he said, it will be done.

"War On Our Hands"

"We've got war on our hands," Knudsen declared. "The defense program comes first. You have got to remember this. We have to get going faster than ever now, even faster than that."

"In the light of what is happening now, we are no safer. If Hitler overruns Russia—which Lord forbid—you know what will happen next. I haven't any illusions. We can't sit down and take it easier. If he (Hitler) overruns Russia, it is going to be a longer show than we think."

Under the new setup in Knudsen's office, which was announced after three top-ranking consultants resigned in the past week, about 30 commodity sections will be set up. Each section will deal with a major commodity such as steel, automobiles, aircraft, etc. Industry advisory committees representing the major industries making war munitions or using materials needed for defense also will be set up.

Without Clues In Brutal Attack On Lock Haven Girl

(International News Service)

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., June 25.—District Attorney B. L. Haag of Clinton County admitted today that county investigators were without a clue to the brutal attack of 15-year-old Dorothy Peters of Lock Haven.

The victim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peters, has regained consciousness several times since she was struck from behind as she walked toward her home Monday night. She suffered a skull fracture and numerous other injuries.

Lieut. Norman E. Amick of the criminal division, Pennsylvania Motor Police, was assigned to the case, aiding a half-dozen state policemen cooperating with county and city authorities. The injured girl told questioners that she did not know who struck her.

areas will become increasingly stronger, it was said. Huge bomber forces will be sent over without a pause in an effort to blast the Nazis into eastern withdrawals and revive the German high command's "interest" in the invasion installations so carefully prepared in France and Norway.

Reliable Royal Air Force reports say that inferior German equipment and personnel are now facing the British in France and western Germany.

Mass Best On East

The Germans massed the best of everything they had for the "blitz" against Soviet Russia in the hope of smashing Stalin's army and toppling his regime within two months. If this time-table worked out, a spokesman said, the plans called for an invasion of Britain by mid-September.

If it misses, however, a well-informed British source insisted, Hitler will be involved on two gradually strengthening fronts throughout the winter.

The Royal Air Force offensive actually started last Saturday—the day before Germany invaded Russia.

Meanwhile, informed diplomatic circles said that Anglo-Russian relations were improving rapidly. Ivan Naisky, the Soviet ambassador in London, quietly dropped his oft-voiced demands that Britain release a number of ships owned by conquered Baltic states which Britain seized at the opening of the war.

A special British naval, army, air force and economic mission will leave for Moscow within a few days.

Report is made to The News by Frank Hillard, of the Shaw road, 3-4 mile west of the Perry highway in Lawrence County, that a porcupine was killed in that district on Tuesday. It is unusually rare for a porcupine to be found in this district. As evidence of the facts in the report a number of the porcupine quills were sent to The News.

Folks who think that the war has forced the cost of things too high, should feel a little sorry for people in the war zone in Europe. According to a letter received by relatives here from George Pirskala, who went to Finland several years ago, and is attached to the United States embassy as an interpreter, shoes are hard to get and the price is high. Local Architects To Draw Plans For Polk Additions Eckles and Company and Thayer and Company, two firms of New Castle architects were today awarded the contract by the General State Authority for the plans and specifications for two and possibly three buildings at Polk State hospital. The amount involved will approximate $1,000,000.

A dormitory for residents at the hospital will be erected and an employee building. It is possible that a third building may be included in the contract.

With the contract authorized it will probably be received here sometime Thursday and work will start immediately.

BRITISH BOMBERS KEEP UP INCESSANT ATTACK

F has dropped a greater tonnage of bombs on Germany during the past two weeks than it did during the entire month of April.

While these tremendous R. A. F. sweeps were in progress, German raiders attacked sections of Britain, dropping bombs on the Merseyside (Liverpool) area, where a small number of people were killed and injured, according to the air ministry.

In other sections of England, a communique said, there was little damage and no casualties.

Early this morning residents of Britain's southeast coast were awakened by the crash of bombs on the French side of the channel as the R. A. F. attacked the invasion ports with stunning force.

The Vichy government is completely Nazified. It has even adopted the idea that brazen lies make obvious facts untrue.

CONQUEST IN THE STEPPES

AS HITLER'S invasion of Russia progresses, there isn't an observer who gives Russia a chance to defeat the Nazi hordes and thus turn the tide of the war. A few think the Russians will be able to hold a large Nazi force immobilized after it has invaded Soviet territory to a considerable depth, somewhat in the manner in which China has stalemated Japanese forces.

That is as much as anybody is willing to concede the Reds in the early stages of the invasion. Perhaps there will be surprises as the fighting progresses. Perhaps the experts will be wrong, as they have been frequently in this war. But talk of Napoleon and Moscow is probably far-fetched in connection with the Hitler invasion of Russia. Napoleon had no airplanes and no tanks.

How Hitler's war on a 1,500-mile front in Russia will affect the fighting in the West is still not clear. In fact, as of the moment there is no front in the West in the orthodox acceptance of the term. The British have had the initiative in the air for several weeks, as Hitler prepared for his blow against his buddy, Stalin, but even diversion of a major part of the German army to Russia has not presented an opening for the British to strike at Hitler by land.

If the Nazis were to bog down in Russia, this situation might be altered. And if Russia is defeated, a German attempt to invade the British Isles may follow in a matter of days. If Russia should capitulate in the near future, presenting Hitler with a victory without the expenditure of many men or much material, the Nazi war lord would of course be stronger than ever. In the meantime, there is a period of watchful waiting in Washington which is reflected in accelerated defense efforts and a feeling that may be brief, that the nation is not quite so close to the brink of war.

LAST OF THE PACKETS

Only one packet is left on the Mississippi or its tributaries as a result of the wreck of the Golden Eagle on Old Man River near Chester, Ill. The home port of the Golden Eagle was Saint Louis, but she was known on all the navigable streams that flow into the big river, and thousands of tourists, who wished to enliven impressions obtained from Mark Twain, recall her fondly.

If ever there was a symbol of "the good old days," it was the stern-wheel river packet of the Western waters. The packet long resisted the railway and the good roads movement, but the internal combustion engine, either in an automobile or a "gas boat," eventually restricted the steamboat to transporting the leisurely romanticist.

But in the rapidly developing machine age it should be remembered that the packet was propelled by machinery and that there were sufferers from the economic changes that the steamboat wrought.

HAZARDS OF SUBMARINE SERVICE

Hazards of the submarine service are well known. But they are tragically re-emphasized by the disastrous stroke of misfortune that sent the O-9 to the bottom of the Atlantic, its thin steel skin presumably crushed by the pressure of the water and its crew lost.

Subs and those who man them have danger as routine companions of their daily lives. Peace or war, there is not much difference in the degree of hazard facing them, and peacetime accidents such as the latest one off Portsmouth have their heroes who die for their country no less than wartime combats.

Undersea vessels, like airplanes, are developed by the delicate and often painful process of continuous testing, experimenting, analyzing, trial and error. Structural advancements, mechanical improvements, life-preserving devices, have been founded time after time upon actual disaster. From the study of mishaps and their causes has come the correction of costly mistakes and the development of better, more efficient, safer craft.

Investigation of the death of the O-9 doubtless will be thorough. It may well be that it will bring about an improvement in tests for pressure resistance, especially in older submarines, that will avoid practice dives at such great depth and, by gradual steps, permit just as efficient determination without subjecting the personnel to unnecessary risks.

PLIGHT OF SMALL INDUSTRIES

The nation is just beginning to realize the seriousness of one of the problems presented by the huge defense effort. This is the plight of hundreds of small non-defense industries whose operations have been greatly curtailed if not wholly stopped by the demands of the armament program.

Without the testimony of one OPM official, in the defense contract division, it would be easy to see the effect of priorities on little plants which find themselves unable to get the raw materials necessary for production. Now it is predicted that about one-third of the nation's industries will be seriously affected by midsummer, some of them perhaps forced to shut down.

There is a growing belief that a system of sub-contracts should be encouraged. The more large orders are farmed out to small industries, the easier it will be to cushion the economic shock of priorities. And many factories now engaged in making non-defense articles can be converted to some line related to defense. Some have already made the adjustment, thereby assuring for themselves the privilege of priorities.

The Federal government cannot permit a large part of the capital investment of the nation to be destroyed unnecessarily. Although military needs come first, the distribution of the work and the profits over a large area can be promoted by official action. New lines of manufacture can be recommended.

Unless this job is done and done well, the collapse of many small businesses will have far-reaching effect. Idle machinery means idle men, especially if they are not fitted for defense work.

This war certainly is bringing a lot of Biblical place names into the headlines.

The government is now attempting to prove that a force which can encourage labor strife can also discourage it.

With the former Western dust bowl threatened with being turned into a rain bowl, home on the range is no longer unclouded all day.

Most of the 25,000 horses bought by Uncle Sam's Army this year have been of light weight. Even the horse cavalry is being streamlined.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

EXAMPLE MAY MAKE CHILD RUDE

One day, some years ago, when my youngest lad was about nine, he and I went shopping. He stopped at the drug store and I continued toward the grocery. He soon came rushing in to me with, "Dad, if I had twenty more cents to put with my nickel I could buy a magazine." Hardly had he finished when I said, "You have a dirty face." And so he had. But his question should have been answered first. Discovering my mistake I quickly made apology.

Unintentionally Rude
I did not mean to be so rude. I merely acted as my native impulses prompted me. My concern about adult conventions made me callous to the courtesy I owed my son.

In the Modern Parent I wrote: "The child of three is sitting at the fireside with his parents. He begins to tell about the adventures of his imaginary companions. On and on he goes in great enthusiasm. His parents seem to be listening. His mother's eyes are riveted upon his eyes. When the child has almost reached the climax of his story the mother says, 'Come here, dear, and let me see your eye.' I never noticed that little spot on your eyelid before, Daddy, it must be a mole." Father is concerned and they begin to talk about the mole. If they had even heard what the boy said it is forgotten.

Child's Disappointment
How disappointed the child is! He had felt that this one time his parents really were listening to his story and were enjoying it with him. Now he knows that the most important thing to him in all the world is of less importance than a spot upon his eye.

"Poor child! He can do nothing about it. They are his parents; they are so big and strong and wonderful, and they know so much. He is weak and small and unimportant, and he knows so little."

"We parents tend to answer the questions directed to the child; and when he is engaged in conversation with an adult we may butt in and steal his words. He adds, 'I never said that she never knew the time when she was allowed to complete a sentence at home.'"

Relatives Rude To Each Other
"We parents assume we can answer for our children better than they can. Then we know children are pretty honest! They might tell what is so; we can touch it up so as to put the family in good light."

"For the same reasons some husbands speak and answer for their wives, and some wives are generous like that with their husbands. I find that when I visit among my rural relatives they often speak for me and that when they visit me among my urban friends I, in like manner, speak for them."

I suppose we parents can't always brag much about our manners towards our children. If we were as rude to our adult friends, we would have no friends. By the way, if you would like to have a list of books on manners for children and youth, write me at 235 E. 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. My child of two will bite her big sister or other children when angry at them.

A. Let all other things go for a few days. Be always on hand while that biting youngster is with other children. The moment she bites someone smack her so it really hurts. Make this punishment as certain as if she always touched an electric button.

The World and the Mud Puddles

GIVE FREEDOM TO BUSINESS

Among the business signs of the time consider the action of the Coca-Cola Company in setting aside for income tax purposes $3,322,000, compared with $1,637,000 the corresponding quarter last year. In more than doubling this reserve, the company proves its resourcefulness as well as its foresight, its capacity and its will to help carry great loads for the common weal. Other corporations are doing likewise, girding themselves for the stress and duty of the most tremendous task our country ever has known.

Such is the vitality and the spirit of American business. Given a fair chance, its creative energies will produce whatever is required of them. This is an immensely heartening fact, as we move deeper into the night of a war-torn world and see the national debt mounting by billions of dollars. So long as we hold to our great freedoms, among which is freedom of enterprise, we shall have the courage to answer any challenge and the shrews to carry any burden. Give American business the space and the air it must have to express its native genius, give it the freedom of function and service as it should, and we shall have an economy out of which our debts, great as they are, can be surely amortized.

Government, for its own part, must realize, however, that ability to pay taxes implies freedom to live and to produce.

HINTS AND DINTS

A 42-year-old Fort Wayne, Ind., draftsman, father of seven children, began a sit-down strike against his wife's seven relatives. He moved a dayport and chair out of his house and tacked up a sign: "Dad on sit-down till in-laws and outlaws leave."

Good Taste

By E. E. Patton, Editor

"My future business success depends entirely upon my personal popularity in the rural community in which I live. I have always been credited with a friendly personality but realize the value of advice."—C. G.

Answer: Impress upon all people you have met, intimately or casually, that you remember them and are interested in them. Keep an anniversary book and mail out to many greeting cards as you can afford on birthdays, wedding anniversaries, graduation dates, etc. Also be very punctilious in sending notes of condolence or in acknowledgment of invitations. Never pass along even to your most intimate family circle any gossip you hear about potential friends or clients. Don't be a Pollyanna to the extent of saying that everybody and everything is lovely. Yet, avoid complacency when anyone wishes you to agree that someone else is a so-and-so. Join a church and as many organizations as possible. In social circles avoid arguments over religion and politics. Be careful to recognize and greet with friendliness all acquaintances you meet, no matter how humble. Be especially attentive to old people and tolerant of the peccadilloes of under-privileged people and children. On meeting an acquaintance, resist the temptation to talk about the weather. Ask about him and his family, rather than tell about you and your family.

Question: How should I teach my servant to announce to guests that dinner is ready?—Mrs. H.
Answer: Have her at all times say: "Dinner is served." Never "dinner is ready." She should come to the door of the living room and try to catch your eye and then make the announcement.

Is it ever possible to reply to invitations on a printed acceptance card?—Batchelor.

Answer: No. This is in the worst possible taste. One should not give the impression of being too busy to take time out to answer invitations. The visiting card, however, may be used for this purpose. For instance

Looking Ahead To Future Not Pleasant
Expect Economic Disturbance After War
Recall Days Following First World War

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, June 25.—That nobody wants to see the war string out indefinitely goes without saying. Yet nobody wants to see it end, even in a hurry, in some wrong way.

What's more, the end of it, whether soon or late, is liable to be followed, either immediately or after a bit of a lapse, by some severe economic pains. One dreads those too just now we're on the basis of a kind of abnormal normality. It's absolutely abnormal in comparison with what preceded it. Nevertheless, we've adapted ourselves to it, there are more than enough jobs to go around. We're temporarily prosperous after a fashion. Taxes will begin to soak us frightfully shortly and we'll run into numerous other uncomfortable conditions, whether we ourselves become involved in the rumpus or simply go on aiding the democracies. All the same, we stay-at-homes, at least (maybe not our military selectees), will adapt ourselves to the situation and feel tolerably normal—until so-called peace comes along.

Then what? Why, by that time peace will be an abnormality to us for quite a spell. If we revert to the same conditions as those that prevailed before the scrap started, we'll remember what they were and will be able to readjust ourselves back into 'em, probably with no great difficulty.

But they'll probably be of an altogether new kind, and darned if I don't hate to contemplate 'em. Before the last World War we had one way of living. Then we had the World War variety. Then we had a boom. Then we had a slump and a prolonged depression. Then we had a New Deal. Now we've another war on our hands. Subsequently, if THIS war ends all right, we're assured that the world will be better all around. I'm blest if I believe it'll seem so to ME. After all, through half a dozen changes of the game, I'm sick of readjustments.

War May Last Years

So far as I'm personally concerned, so long as we stay out (I wouldn't like to see US involved) and do nothing but lease-land to the democracies, I'll be suited to have the thing wall along interminably.

And I note that some of our best authorities say that perhaps it will. For instance, Assistant State Secretary A. A. Berle, the other day, compared the pending strife with the Napoleonic wars, which hung on for 17 years.

War Secretary Henry L. Stimson also remarked that "we face the prospect of a long war."

Stimson and Berle, as witnesses before the congressional rivers and harbors committee, were answering the argument of opponents of St. Lawrence waterway and power development, to the effect that the plan isn't a worth-while war project, because it can't be put through in less than several years, and that the war'll be over by then. Stimson and Berle predict not.

As to what'll ensue when it does end?

Plenty of our best economists are worrying audibly over the problem.

Leon Henderson of OPM Director Bill Knudsen's staff is one of 'em. It's in an effort to guard against inflation and a post-war slump that he's doing all his price-fixing and his warning against the hoarding of the necessities of life. The trouble with his anti-hoarding advice is that he seems to have his fingers crossed on certain items.

Only a few days ago the OPM outfit appealed to householders to buy their next winter's coal right now, so's not to congest the railroads with countless tons of it, to transport when cold weather comes on. It was a bright suggestion.

Momentous Developments

Washington, June 25.
THE amazing turn of the wheel by which Hitler's Germany and Stalin's Russia, bursting the treaty bonds that seemed to bind them together, are now tearing at each other's throats in open warfare is quite the most momentous development since the tragic and terrible fall of France.

BUT while not devoid of increased danger to us and our ally Britain, there is the possibility that it may be as good news as the French collapse was bad. Certainly it has upset a lot of calculations and changed a lot of angles. There are so many ways of looking at it that it isn't easy to sift out and concentrate upon the vital facts. For one thing, the actual declaration of war apparently was unforeseen by anyone on this side of the ocean.

NONE of our diplomats, our military experts, our statesmen nor our international commentators and authorities had expected it. On the contrary, with almost complete unanimity they had insisted that the German threats to Russia were mere gestures; that the Russian replies were not what they seemed on the surface; that the outcome would be another treaty or agreement, by which more complete German-Russian cooperation would be assured. As some of our leading publicists look back today upon their last-week comment they must feel a little foolish.

APPARENTLY the only man anywhere outside of Germany and Russia who foresaw the event was Mr. Winston Churchill, who revealed in his Sunday speech that he had given "clear and concise warning to Stalin of what was coming." "I gave him," said the British Prime Minister, "warnings as I have given warnings to others before. I can only hope that these warnings did not fall unheeded." It is strange, but it seems true, that no one in this country anticipated what was coming or was prepared for it. And Mr. Churchill is as clearheaded as to what to do now as he was as to what was coming. Declaring that there is no time to moralize, he asserts that "any man of state who fights against Hitler will have our aid; any man or state who marches with Hitler is our foe."

IT is not possible to put it more clearly, and there is little we can (Continued On Page Nine)

Maj. Gen. W. J. Donovan Says Britain Chiefly In Need Of Supplies

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 25—England can hold out with American aid, Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan declared today as he arrived in Pittsburgh for the city's freedom day celebration.

The World War commander of New York's "fighting 69th" was asked if this "help" meant the army and navy. He replied:

"Not necessarily. They need supplies chiefly."

Major General Donovan, who speaks tonight at Syria Mosque, was pessimistic about Russia's chances against Germany.

"Germany is more of a threat to us now than Russia is," he said, admitting he holds no love for either side. "We must first lick Germany. We can take care of Russia after that."

"It is not a question of aiding the communists. It is a question of licking Germany."

"I don't think Hitler would have attacked Russia unless he thought he had a 90 per cent chance of victory."

"I don't think Hitler will make Napoleon's mistake of trying to take too much of Russia. And if he succeeds quickly in taking and holding what he needs in Russia it will constitute one of the greatest threats to England."

Chinese Air Chief Cites Urgent Need Of U. S. Warplanes

(International News Service)
HONG KONG, June 25.—American opinion tends to under-estimate the power and strength of the Japanese Air Force in China. Major General Mao Pang-chiu, air commander of the Chinese air force, told foreign correspondents in Changtu recently.

The climbing power of the latest Japanese fighter is superior to that of any other country, added General Mao who said that Chinese planes are antiquated.

"If China had four or eight hundred of the latest American planes," continued the air officer, "the air war could be extended to Japan. Also the Chinese Air Force could patrol the coast to maintain communication from the sea."

The time element in American assistance to China is very important, in the opinion of General Mao. Procrastination is responsible for the defeat of many countries in Europe, but he hoped China would not come to such a pass.

Air Raids Less Intensive
Japanese air raids on China are not so intensive this year as in the past, said the general. This is due to American restrictions on war materials for export to Japan, in addition to which Japan is conserving planes, fuel and other war materials for possible strife in the South Pacific.

There were 1200 Japanese planes in China at the beginning of the year, he revealed, but since April the number has been reduced to 741.

The powerful Japanese planes mentioned by General Mao are believed to be Messerschmitts, Heinkels and Stukas manufactured in Japan in accordance with blueprints supplied by Germany.

According to a reliable foreign source, the blueprints were sent to Japan last year by a German mission headed by Dr. Heinrich Georg Stahmer following the signature of the three-power treaty between Japan, Germany and Italy.

This country's wars have consumed 15 years of fighting.

During that time 245,000 American soldiers were killed.

In the past 15 years of peace, 442,000 died from traffic accidents.

In this same period, 600,000 Americans have died of stomach cancer.

Early diagnosis of cancer of the stomach is difficult.

Early cancer of the stomach rarely causes pain or discomfort.

There is no fever, malnutrition or anemia.

Symptoms are those of ulceration, infection, obstruction.

And these are all late manifestations of cancer.

Earliest symptom is consciousness of something wrong with digestion.

Yet this sensation may mean any one of a great number of disorders.

In one over 40, indigestion should be promptly diagnosed.

American Dive Bombers Best

Are Called Vastly Superior To Highly Vaunted Nazi Stukas

HAVE HIGHER SPEED RATIO

By KENNETH M. SCHEIBEL
International News Service
Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON, June 25.—American dive bombers can "out-Stuka the Stukas," according to the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

"America, the nation which years ago perfected the technique of dive bombing, has maintained world supremacy in the aircraft it produces for this type of aerial attack," the chamber said.

"Despite the wide attention focused on the Nazi air force by its dread Stukas, the United States today has at least five types of aircraft which can out-perform the much-publicized dive bombers of Hitler's Luftwaffe."

Among these is the Curtiss SB2C-1 which is said to be "100 miles faster and with a bomb capacity twice as large as any existing dive bomber."

Compares Average Performances

The chamber said exact figures on speed, range and other characteristics are withheld for military reasons but reported the following average performance figures of American dive bombers:

Average maximum speed — 282 miles per hour.

Average cruising range—over 1,300 miles.

Average bomb capacity—"considerably more" than 1,000 pounds.

In poor comparison, Nazi Stukas the chamber said, are credited by international aeronautical publications with a 242 mph top speed, a 498-mile range and a bomb load of less than 1,000 pounds.

"No little credit for the supremacy of the American ships is due," the chamber recognized, "to the remarkable improvements made in recent years in the big Pratt and Whitney and Wright engines which power all U. S.-built dive bombers."

Pioneered By U. S. Navy

Most bomber types are designed for operation from aircraft carriers, the chamber pointed out, since the U. S. Navy pioneered in dive bombing.

Other American bombers besides the Curtiss include the Brewster 340, a heavy dive bomber with "exceptional speed and range, two vital factors in sea operations," the Douglas SBD-1 which "established records considerably in excess of performance figures attributed to German and British dive bombers," the Republic Guardian, which is equipped to carry a 1,350 pound load as a dive bomber, and the Vought-Sikorsky 156.

American manufacturers also excel in producing torpedo planes, the chamber added, but did not elaborate.

Due to erosion, the brink of Niagara Falls is moving back at a rate of about 2 1/2 to 4 feet a year. In the last 30,000 years, the brink has moved west about seven miles.

Girl Scout Day Camp Will Open On July 7

Swimming, Nature Study, Hiking, Handicrafts, Dramatics
Are Features

Girl Scouts are looking forward to Monday morning, July 7, when they will gather round the Scout Little House at Cascade Park at 9 o'clock to begin their two weeks of day camp, when they explore the island, scatter through the wooded hills, learn to swim, cook and learn the crafts.

Each girl will take a drinking cup, small blanket, bathing suit, pencil and note book, sandwiches and fruit (milk is furnished). A camera and scout knife are nice to have along too. The fee for Day Camp is only five cents a day plus a registration fee of ten cents which makes a most reasonable and enjoyable vacation for any young girl.

One girl, Jean, who was at camp, wrote to her mother at home "Please I think Anne is probably so lonely. I'd like to send her one of my lizards. If you think he will live please send me something to put him in with holes in it he is red and doesn't hurt a soul. I have a turtle cussen to salemeniders. I can do the alstrain cral." Jean knew how Anne felt of missing so much fun and she had to do something about it.

The Girl Scouts feel the same as Jean did about the summer-stay-at-homes, and they have brought camp to the end of the street car line and the girls can find red lizards and a swimming pool to learn the Australian crawl.

A day camp is simply an all day outing and its purpose is to give girls a taste of life in the open, and it may be something more if the girls so decide. One group may live in an Indian village, weaving blankets, whittling wood for bows and arrows. Another may learn the strokes of swimming and have a water carnival; others may stage pageants, still others may make scientific expeditions to forests and camps. In all there are leaders who know the secret of a good time—how to make the end of the bus line the beginning of a great adventure.

Stephen Douglas wooed Mary Todd and lost; Lincoln wooed her and won. Douglas and Lincoln ran against one another for the presidency and Lincoln won, but Douglas stood beside Lincoln at his inauguration and held his hat.

Seek Applicants For F. B. I. Positions

With its responsibilities and volume of work constantly increasing as a result of the national emergency, the Federal Bureau of Investigation is seeking qualified personnel for many different types of positions, according to an announcement made today by J. E. Thornton, special agent in charge of the FBI's Pittsburgh field division.

"Since the outbreak of war in Europe and the designation of the FBI by the president to coordinate the investigations of all espionage, counter-espionage, sabotage and related matters, the FBI personnel has been more than doubled," Mr. Thornton stated. "We have not, however, lowered the previous high standards established in 1924 when John Edgar Hoover became director of the FBI. Applicants for our various positions must still pass rigid tests, be in excellent physical condition and survive a thorough investigation as to loyalty, integrity and ability. Appointments are based on personal qualifications and merit."

Applicants for positions, according to Mr. Thornton, should contact his office at 620 new federal building, Pittsburgh, Pa., or communicate with John Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI at Washington, D. C.

With a little training it is said that the ear can distinguish between the sounds of German and British aircraft.

mechanized units destroyed German tank formations and wiped out the German mechanized regiment.

In the Grodno, Volkovsk and Brest-Litovsk areas, the communiques said, fierce fighting was continuing, while in the Brest area heavy engagement between large tank units raged forward with the enemy sustaining heavy losses.

"Our aviation," the communiques said, "cooperating with the armies in the field dealt crushing blows to airmen and important military targets of the enemy. During the air battles our air force shot down 34 aircraft."

Submarine Sunk

"In the gulf of Finland an enemy submarine was sunk by units of our fleet."

"In reply to a thrice-repeated raid on Sebastopol by German bombers from Rumanian territory, Soviet planes thrice bombed Constanza and Sulina."

"Constanza was left ablaze. In reply to twice-repeated raids by German bombers on Kiev, Minsk and Riga, Soviet bombers thrice attacked Danzig, Koenigsberg, Lublin and Warsaw, causing great damage to military objectives."

"Petrol dumps were set ablaze at Warsaw. During June 22, 23 and 24, the Soviet air force lost 374 aircraft, mainly in air battles. In this same period the Soviet air force brought down 161 German aircraft in air battles."

"In addition, according to approximate information available, no less than 220 aircraft have been destroyed on the airdromes of the enemy."

Heavy Plane Losses

"These figures would bring the score to a total of 381 German planes destroyed as against 374 Soviet aircraft."

"The Germans are dropping parachutists for interruption of communications in batches of five and ten—clad in the uniforms of Soviet militiamen."

"Units for destruction of parachutists have been created behind the frontier lines. The NKVD (Russian secret police formerly known as the OGPU) is entrusted with the operation of these units."

"Finland has lent her territory to the German army and air force. For the past 10 days concentrations of German troops and planes have been proceeding on the borders of the USSR."

"On June 23 six German bombers flying from Finnish territory attempted to bomb Kronstadt. These aircraft were repelled, one was shot down and four German officers were taken prisoner."

"On June 24 four German aircraft attempted to bomb the Kondolaka and Kulaia regions. Some units of the German army tried to cross the Soviet border. The aircraft were compelled to take flight and the German army units were repelled. German soldiers have been taken prisoner."

"Rumania has put her territory at the complete disposal of the German armies, and not only raids by the German air force have been carried out from Rumanian territory on Soviet towns and armies, but German troops in cooperation with the Rumanian armies also have been conducting a land offensive."

"Repeated attempts of the German and Rumanian armies to take possession of Cernauti and to gain a foothold on the eastern bank of the Pruth river have not been successful."

"German and Rumanian prisoners have been taken."

"A Moscow radio broadcast addressed to the German soldiers and picked up in New York by CBS reminded the Nazis that Napoleon had attempted to invade Russia just 129 years ago."

"The broadcast said that 'Hitler, like a sleep-walker, walks in Napoleon's footsteps. He, too, will find his downfall on Russian soil.'"

GNCA Looking Into Plant Possibilities

Several Projects Are Under Study, Annual Report
Reveals

While little publicity can be made of the fact, the Greater New Castle Association is currently following up "specific industrial projects," two or three of which "seem favorable" in their prospects, the GNCA's 18-page second annual report, now in the mails, said today.

The mimeographed summary reviewed the civic association's affairs for the fiscal year ending last February 28. A financial report accompanies the activity story.

The report winds up with a letter signed by Norman E. Clark, past president of the association, expressing the appreciation of Clark and his fellow officers to the GNCA staff and to all its loyal committee members.

Perhaps the easiest way to gain a reputation for possessing a superior mind, is to not approval and let the other fellow do all the talking.

Aeronautics Board Allots Air Space To Types Of Airplanes

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The Civil Aeronautics Board today set aside the air space above 17,000 feet for operation of military aircraft, in order to facilitate the movement of military planes during a time of enormous increase in civil and military air traffic.

The board also issued regulations instructing all aircraft flying on civil airways between 3,500 feet and 17,000 feet to maintain specified altitudes in order to effect safe separation between aircraft.

All aircraft operating on civil airways between these altitudes must be equipped with a radio receiver, radio transmitter, and a sensitive type altimeter, in order to assure continuing contact between planes on established air routes and ground control stations.

The new regulations were adopted as a result of recommendations made by an air traffic control board composed of representatives of the army, navy and the civil aeronautics administrations.

The air space below 3,500 feet will remain free for the use of all pilots with no new restrictions. This will permit owners of airplanes not having necessary equipment to fly cross-country with the same convenience as in the past. This area also will remain available for flight training.

Shaw Funeral Is Set For Friday In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Dr. John J. Shaw, state secretary of health in the cabinet of Gov. Arthur H. James since January, 1939, will be buried privately in the Vane family plot in West Laurel Hill cemetery on Friday afternoon, it was announced today.

A spokesman for Mrs. Shaw, who is proscribed at her summer home in Ventnor, N. J., said there would be a viewing of the body tomorrow evening until 10 o'clock at the Oliver H. Bair funeral parlor, 1820 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, where funeral services will take place at 2 p. m. on Friday.

Dr. Shaw was found dead in his Harrisburg hotel room yesterday noon. Death apparently was caused by a heart attack. His widow is the former Beatrice Vane, a daughter of the late Pennsylvania Republican leader, William S. Vane.

After cancelling other engagements, Gov. James visited Mrs. Shaw at her seashore home last night to personally express his sympathy.

The Great Game Of Politics

do expect follow that British lead. The view so easy and natural for the average American to take—to wit, that when the two most perfidious and dangerous rulers in the world fall to fighting each other, there should be joy for us in the prospect of an ideal double murder, and it makes no difference which villain wins—that view is not sound. To us, as well as to England, it makes a great deal of difference. Clearly, a Hitler victory would greatly enhance the Hitler power, provide the Nazis with vast military supplies, as well as food and oil; make the Hitler threat to the British and to us far more menacing; bring closer to reality the Hitler dream of world domination. The blunt and truthful Mr. Churchill makes this exceedingly plain. He has no doubt as to the course for his nation to follow. There seems slight room for doubt as to ours.

NEVERTHELESS, it will necessitate some confusion in adjustments. For months the Communists in this country have been lined up on the side of Germany. They have engaged in sabotaging the American foreign policy of full aid to the British, and they have fomented many strikes in defense plants, every one of which has been a help to Hitler. Also, they have manufactured most of the really virulent anti-British propaganda. In brief, they have been on the side of the enemy. Now overnight they flop back on the American-English side.

IT is easy for the ordinary citizen to be bewildered, but it is important that he should not be. Actually, there is here, if our leaders avail themselves of it, a chance to clarify the mass American mind, convince the general public that these Communists within our gates are without conscience, conviction, stability or honor. They are unworthy foes and impossible friends. Because they are now forced to abandon their hostility to the American defense effort is not a reason for forgetting what they have been doing, and what they undoubtedly would do again if the present painful Russian situation should change.

THE immediate danger here of this German-Russian war is its effect upon public opinion. In an Administration which has coddled Communists in the past, and which includes in its personnel many near-Communists, there may be a disposition to take a sympathetic view of the Russian plight, to welcome her too heartily as our ally. There is also the possibility that the German-Russian clash may make aid to Britain seem less urgent. The reverse of that is true. This is the time to give the British everything we have in the hope that the new phase of the war will make it possible to pound Hitler far more effectively than before and really win the Battle of the Atlantic while he is heavily engaged in the East. To this end our policy, like Churchill's, should be to aid the Russians in any way we can, but not to let that lessen our distaste for distrust of the whole Communist outfit.

What's What At A Glance

too. If there's a congestion, there will be a shortage and prices will skyrocket. I'm buying some of the stuff myself, but am I not hoarding it? To hoard or not to hoard? That's the question. Evidently it depends on what you hoard.

How About Small Factories? Peter R. Nehemkis of OPM's defense contract service likewise is in a stew over the future effect of the government's priorities upon small factories. Many of these factories turn out goods that aren't defensively useful and they can't be adapted to defensive production.

That defense manufacturers require. They can't get it, though, priorities on it. At the moment the because the defensive plants get non-defense managements are not much sympathized with. The idea it, "let their customers do without what they're anxious to buy, or ration themselves."

In the existing emergency that's a. K. The difficulty is that non-defense plant owners, unable to get the raw stuff that they can't do without, are forced to go out of business; their plants'll be extinct at the war's end, with that many jobs gone to hades, too.

Which is just the sort of thing that means a slump.

The people are like Humpty Dumpty. Mr. President, You can break them up into classes, but you can't stick them together again.

Farmer: If things get too bad we can eat our forest preserves.
City boy: You've nothing on us. We can eat our traffic jams.

Seek To End Legislative Deadlock At State Capitol

Conferences Are Now Under Way

Governor And Legislative Leaders Seek To End Long Controversy

SESSION MAY END BY JULY FOURTH

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 25.—The General Assembly today pressed for adjournment sine die by July 4, spurred on by conferences between Gov. Arthur H. James and Democratic leaders seeking an end to the deadlock which has delayed the session's close.

It was expected that an adjournment resolution would be introduced soon in the two houses setting July 2 as the official closing day, with an extra day available if needed to clean up loose ends.

To Discuss Compromises

The Republican chief executive was to meet again shortly after noon with his Democratic opponents to discuss further compromises to be effected in settling disputed legislation on which the Democratic house and Republican senate have been unable to agree.

Governor James met for more than an hour yesterday with House Majority Leader Leo A. Acherman and Senate Minority Leader Harry Shapiro. Present also were House Minority Leader Robert E. Woodside, Jr., and Senate Majority Leader James A. Goltz.

A short statement was issued by the conferees after the meeting to the effect that a "very satisfactory conference" was held, to which the governor added: "It (the dispute) can be settled in 20 minutes." Democratic leaders appeared pleased when they emerged from the governor's office.

"Getting Somewhere"

"It looks as if we're getting somewhere," commented Shapiro. All indications pointed to a successful conclusion of the conferences and a quick adjournment next week.

In expectation of this, Speaker of the House Elmer Kilroy announced the house would hold its first Friday session this week and the senate was expected to follow suit.

It was expected that in the compromises effected the Democrats would recede from their stand on tax reduction, thus increasing by $7,550,000 the money available to the administration for the next two years. The house reduced by one mill each the tax on personal property and bank shares, but the senate refused to concur.

Both sides are also expected to agree to a restoration of cuts made in the general appropriations bill. The Democrats slashed 17 per cent off the commerce department budget and the governor retaliated by reducing the budgets of the Democratic-controlled auditor general's and treasury departments by the same percentages. Other cuts were also made by both sides, notably the elimination by the governor of the entire $150,000 appropriation for the Democratic joint state government commission.

His finger became caught in a chain while making a lift with a crane. He was brought to the James Memorial hospital at 3:25 o'clock for treatment.

NEW CASTLE TEACHER WILL TAKE PART IN BOSTON PROGRAM

(Special To The News)
NEW YORK, June 25—Helen A. Maxwell of New Castle, a teacher, is scheduled to participate actively in the 79th annual convention of the National Education Association of the United States, which will be held in Boston next week. It was announced here today.

Speedy Victory Over Russia Is Need Of Hitler

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 25—Military experts today declared that Germany must crush Soviet Russia within the next three months or else the Russo-Nazi conflict may become stalemated during the severe Russian winter.

These authorities feel, however, that the Nazis may sweep to a decisive victory in a month with the ease that has accompanied most of the Reich's other campaigns.

They said that the tide of the war might depend on whether the Soviet consolidates her long front, while at the same time conducting "organized destruction" of material that would be of value to the German army.

It was held that if the Russians are able to make a well-planned retreat, retire intact to natural defensive positions and destroy this valuable material then the Red army "may make it very difficult for the Germans."

The experts believe that the German army will attempt to flank the Soviet forces in a pincer drive, with the Russian army as its goal instead of "places."

Weak spots in the Soviet's war machine was said by some authorities to be her air force and the methods of maintenance of equipment. It was held that Russia "is better off in tanks than planes."

The authorities contended that a German victory would not mean a great immediate gain, pointing out that the Reich would be hampered for some time in procuring war materials from the Soviet because of the ravages of war.

Regardless of the outcome, the military experts held Germany will need some time to reorganize her forces for an attempted British invasion.

Iceland Is Real Spearhead Into European Waters

Explorer Mergenthaler Reveals Island Is Enlightened
Spot

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., June 25—Iceland is America's spearhead into European waters and the people of the United States will soon be hearing much about the little-known island.

This is the opinion of Reginald Orcutt, vice president of the Mergenthaler Linotype Company and a member of the famed Explorers' Club of New York.

According to the explorer, intimately acquainted with the island's culture and customs, the little island is a fine land and not the frozen bleak spot most Americans believed it to be.

Has Population Of 131,000
"With a population of 131,000 persons, Iceland produces more books per thousand population than any other country on earth," Orcutt revealed.

"The books are all published in Iceland, the language of the sagas from which 6500 English words have been kept pure for a thousand years," the explorer declared.

The dispatch said that two of the planes were shot down during the attack on the Finnish capital.

Last night, according to a dispatch from Stockholm, German Stukas dive-bombed Russian fortifications on the Hangoe peninsula, causing great damage.

This same report said German planes had raided Russian air bases in Estonia, causing gigantic fires.

Reuters (British) news agency reported from Stockholm that observers with binoculars atop the tower of the Helsinki stadium saw a sea of flame over Tallinn, across the gulf of Finland. It was assumed, this dispatch said, that Tallinn had been set on fire by bombs.

Amendment To Draft Act Still Pends In Congress

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, June 25.—The controversial selective service act amendment bill which would reduce the draft age "ceiling" to 28 years was expected by leaders today to reach the House floor Friday.

The measure already has passed the Senate. The military affairs committee of the House, however, re-wrote it. House leaders expected the measure to come out Friday.

Once passed by the House, the bill will go to a Senate-House conference committee for agreement on the changes, then return to the Senate for re-passage.

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, June 25.—Rep. Shafer (R) Mich. today introduced a special resolution calling upon Secretary of Navy Knox to give the house complete information on the condition of the ill-fated submarine U-9 when it sank off Portsmouth, N. Yanks Keep On Slugging Ball

Defeat Browns 9 To 1 With DiMaggio Getting His 36th Consecutive Hit

By PAT ROBINSON

(International News Service Special Wire) NEW YORK, June 25.—Lefty Gomez, witty left hander of the Yankees, today had a few sage observations to make on the signing of young Dick Wakefield of Michigan University by the Tigers for a reputed $45,000.

"It only goes to show that a college education can do for you," said Gomez. "Now just think what Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Bob Feller or even myself might have signed up for if we'd only had sense enough to stick out snoots in one of those economics courses."

DiMaggio Keeps Going Lefty held the hard-hitting Browns to five hits while his buddies went on a rampage against Bob Muncie to slaughter the Browns 9 to 1. Rolfe, Henrich and Gordon all hit for the circuit, thereby running the Yankee homer streak through 19 games and 33 homers for the spurge.

And DiMaggio ran his personal batting streak through his 36th consecutive game and needs only five more games to tie the George Sisler record.

The Yanks are on a veritable hitting binge and so are the Red Sox. Joe Cronin's devastating outfit tore into Mel Harder of the Indians and with young Newsome pitching steadily, came home on the chin strap, 13 to 2. The Sox piled up 18 hits among which were homers by Dom DiMaggio and Bobby Doerr and one by Jim Tabor with three aboard.

That defeat brought the Indians back only one game ahead of the Yanks and but three in front of the Red Sox. Meanwhile Dutch Leonard was pitching the Senators out of the cellar by cooling off the White Sox 6 to 3.

And over in the other circuit, the Giants clung tenaciously to third place when Melton outpitched French in a left handed battle, 3-1 while the Reds, behind Walters' five hit throwing, downed the Phils, 5-1.

Cardinals Win The Cardinals must have received either a lecture from Manager Billy Southworth or another dose of Branch Rickey's famed vitamin tablets for they snapped out of their losing ways and tore into the luckless Braves for an easy 13-1 decision the lone run counting on Max West's.

homer, one of the four hits Lon Warneke gave the Stengeleers. But the Dodgers kept within a half a game of the Cards, by shutting out the Pirates 8 to 0 in a night game behind Curt Davis' five hit pitching.

In another night contest, the Tigers took a 2 to 1 thriller from the Athletics. In the ninth inning the Tigers pushed across the winning tally on singles by Rudy York and Bruce Campbell and Pinky Higgins' long fly.

K. O. PUNCHERS TO BOX MONDAY

Moran, Les Leasure, Shar And Rollin Horne On Fistic Docket

Anyone who likes fight with a capital P should experience a drab moment when they trot into the air-cooled Arena next Monday night because on the fistic docket are several of the best punchers in amateur ranks hereabouts.

Prinstane, delegated for action is Frankie Moran, South Side lightweight, who can knock a foe out while reeling on his heel. In fact, he put Johnny Shar away two weeks ago after he was stung to the quick. Both came out of corners like lighthouses. A blow to the jaw rocked Moran groggy. He recuperated quickly. In the second round a left to the chin rolled Shar, a real tough, game kid, for a count of 10.

Frankie has been matched to fight Melio Donelli of Niles at 135 pounds. Melio has fought here several times and has yet to put up a slow fight. No doubt the stifle will prove a magnet in it.

Leasure Battles Burke Les Leasure, middleweight, known as the "Canoe Kid" because he works at the American Can, who gave Russell Baxter the fight of his life, will take on Mike Burke of Niles at 160.

In meeting Burke, Les is taking on someone who once beat Baxter. If Les employs cunning with punch in the battle he may be able to give Burke plenty to worry about, or even get over with a decision or "kayo".

Rollin Horne, brother of Sonny of Niles, who has fought some good battles here, will oppose Jimmy Arkett of Ashtabula at 135 in one battle docket.

Andy Arrington, Clairton's elongated colored lad, who put up a whole of a fight with Bud Bush, has been stacked against Bobby Colechi of Ashtabula at 126 pounds. Arrington lost only because his stamina fled in the third chapter.

The Jefferson A. C. is staging the fight.

Milsoms-Saints Battle Tonight

The newly organized Milsom colored baseball team will play the newly organized St. Margaret's baseball team at the Booker T. Washington field this evening at 6 o'clock. It was announced by Business Manager Jimmy Hill.

The St. Margaret's are from Mahoningtown and are coached by Mike Orlando, a veteran of many years of Seventh Ward baseball. Clark will go to the mound for the Milsoms, with Perrotta slated to work for the Saints.

Sunday sports Milsoms play the Butler Black Hose team here at the Booker T. Washington field instead of at Butler as originally intended. It was announced. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

ADVOCATOR TOP HOSS

Advocator was among the stake-wheeled horses of 1940 which were bred by Joseph E. Widener at his Elmendorf Farm in Kentucky. Advocator, a son of Sicks-Persica by Hourless, won the Stars and Stripes Handicap at Arlington Park and the Autumn Handicap at Hawthorne.

DIET EXPERT

Charley George ranks as top man on diets for athletes. Most of the big time sports personalities hire George to help knock off some of the excess poundage around the tummy.

MOOSE WON GAME

The Moose club defeated West Pittsburgh last night at the West Pittsburgh field, 8 to 5, with Denny pitching. The Moose team has won four out of the last five games and are showing an improvement.

Picked up along the sports trail:

Time out for the mail.—In a wire to this week, Al Krenz, director of Atlantic free baseball school conducted in this sector, states that he and Glenn Wright, former Pirate shortstop, will stage opening drills Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, on George Washington junior high field. As per request, we're inviting New Castle's upcoming diamond gentry to attend.

From Ellwood City we learn that Jim McCready, who used to be the American Legion junior baseball loop and the county league to springboard into the Penn State circuit, will be honored on July 2. McCready, pegging for Beaver Falls, may get the starting assignment against Warren. The Ellwood Chamber of Commerce and the American Legion are pooling their efforts to stage the deserving testimonial billed for Beaver Falls.

A contributor calls our attention to the New Castle Fair, slated for August 19, 20, and 21. The racing program will "suit everyone's fancy," the informant states. In addition to the customary trotting and pacing numbers, a few running races are being added to the program. As a clincher, a mule race will be staged, we've been informed.

Eddie "Feller" Stewart and Dick Biddle Put On Two-Man Show At Lee Avenue

Eddie "Feller" Stewart pitched a well six-hit game at the Lee avenue field last night as the West Side A. C. nosed out the Ryantown team, their friendly rivals 4 to 3, and Dick Biddle the West Side centerfielder, put on a swell hitting act to help win the game.

It was Biddle's slashing single in the last of the seventh with nobody out that scored Maher from second with the winning run. Biddle had the only extra-base hit in the game, a double in the first inning to help the Gilberts. Walzer was the best Ryantown hitter with a pair of singles.

Thursday the West Side will play the West Pittsburgh "Gas House" gang at Lee avenue and it will be "Scotty" Morrison against Lefty Tonsette.

Elders Assume Lead In League

Anderson Outpitches Morrison Before Over 2,000 Fans In 5 To 2 Victory

DUDLEY FRUITT FIELDING STAR

Leroy "Blondie" Anderson, as cool as a polar bear in Alaska, didn't let a crowd of over 2,000 fans ruffle him one bit last night at Marshall field, as he continued his mastery over the Lawrence Indies to give the Elder A. C. the leadership of the city league in a nicely pitched five-hit game 5 to 2.

Anderson had some real help from his buddies. Dudley Frutt, the Elder shortstop, starting three double plays that cut off Indies rallies. Anderson had fine support in the outfield also from Davies, W. Frutt and Todd. In fact the Elders to a man played a head-up game all the way, and really deserved the victory that was theirs.

Morrison Blows Up

Paul Morrison simply couldn't control his pitching after getting hit on the right arm by an Anderson slant along about the fourth inning. The Elders went on the warpath in the last of the fifth to shove over four runs and put the game in the well known refrigerator.

The first half championship is now within sight of the Elder A. C. clubhouse, according to General Chairman Joe Eddy and Manager Joe O'Leary, who deserve credit for the success of the Elder team in their pennant drive.

"Red" Bevan scored the first Elder run and played a brilliant game at third base, along with Dudley Frutt. So did Mosley play a nice game for the Indies, along with the aging George Byak.

It was the second defeat for the Indies in the league to date, with the team winning 13. The Elders have won 13 and lost but one. It was the Indies who gave the Elders their only setback so far this year, the victory last night being sweet revenge.

Galan's '35 Mark Can't Be Bettered

Agile Cub Switch-Hitter Failed To Hit Into Double Play During 1935

Augie Galan's name will always stand out in record books, unless publishers quit printing books. Some way down the line, some one may tie his mark for not hitting into double plays. No one will ever beat it, that's a cinch.

The agile Chicago Cub switch-hitter set up the record during the Cub's pennant drive in 1935. Augie played in every game of the season, including the 21-straight winning streak. He not only hit at a .314 gait but at no time in any game did he hit into a double play.

Larry Sullivan, coach at Derry

Washington Huskies were favored to capture the Poughkeepsie regatta today. Practically all of Stanford's and California's best gridgers face possible draft after the second national service registration next week. Les Steers, Oregon's world champion high jumper, has been deferred because of a summer job in a shipyard.

Illinois house of representatives has passed a bill which requires a complete physical examination of race horses. Mickey Rocco, Buffalo first baseman, has been fined $100 for an attack on a fan during a game at Rochester, June 16. A new idea has been born here in New Castle... it is called: New Castle's Concert Band... Composed of 28 boys in their teens... their sole purpose is to enjoy playing, by playing for any local groups that wish their services... all their work will be free... they are not out trying to raise money, little boys that entitle folks to an opportunity on a portable radio is the thing... George Moore is conductor of the band... so there you are.

Now is the time of year for all those who love flowers to get out in the garden and get a little work done... the rains of last week made the weeds pop up again... and they sure get a foothold in a few days. Those who really love to putter-around have no regard whatever for the fellow who likes to work for a living... unless the place he is going is noted for its flower gardens... he soon becomes known as a "putter-arounder". A distinction that sticks for the duration of at least seven months out of the year. You can always tell a "putter-arounder" by his appearance... his hair is shabby, his clothes are stained by frequent contact with damp earth... his shoes are double soled with clay... his finger nails are stained, cracked and horrible looking... when he shakes hands you think you are taking hold of a piece of sand paper... but he wears a big grin on his face which is the color of genuine leather. He says very little... because you are probably not of his class... your hands are smooth, your hair trimmed and you look like a pale face in deepest Africa. A real honest-to-goodness "putter-arounder" in New Castle is something to see.

And while we are talking about something to see... have you been around town lately... some of the sights of private garden are wonderful... Up at the corner of Winter Avenue and Mercer streets... the roses on the wall are beautiful... and up on Hazelcroft Avenue... in front of the President Judges' house... some more beautiful roses... and then all around town there are some mighty fine lawns... green as all get out... yes this is a wonderful old world... too bad things have to go wrong at times.

Don't forget the classified ads... they will help when all else fails... try one.

Urge U. S. To Send Communists Back To Russia At Once

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Speakers on the floor of the house Tuesday urged the United States to seize the opportunity occasioned by the Russo-German war to send communists in this country back to Russia.

"If ever there was a good war the one between Russia and Germany is it," Rep. Osmer (R) N. J., asserted. "It gives the United States the opportunity to do what it should—to tell the communists in this country to go back to the fatherland and help out there rather than stay in this country and sabotage our efforts."

"I agree with that—it is indeed a good opportunity to tell the communists to go back," Rep. Patrick (D) Ala., a staunch interventionist, declared.

"I would also like to say this shows the foolishness of Colonel Lindbergh and his followers in urging England to make a negotiated peace with Germany."

Meanwhile, Rep. Thomas (R) N. J., a member of the Dies committee, urged the un-American activities group intensify its investigation of communists in the United States.

"Far from lulling our suspicions about red army activity over here, the Russo-German hostilities should make us more vigilant than ever," he declared.

"We can't afford to make heroes out of these American communists, permit them to establish more front organizations, and emerge from this as a more powerful group."

Other members of the committee, however, are inclined to take the view that the new war is a signal for intensified investigations of the Nazi and Fascist elements in this country, rather than the communists.

"All Nazi organizations are now going to make a two-fold drive—anti-communist and pro-peace," Rep. Voorhis (D) Cal., predicted.

"They are going to be the dangerous groups, and they are going to seek support behind the anti-communist mask. They are the ones which must be closely watched."

Both Voorhis and Rep. Mason (R) Ill., predicted that the wave of communist-inspired strikes in this country will now stop but Thomas took the position that there are many factions within the communist party which will continue efforts to sabotage the defense and aid-to-Britain program.

Picnic For Church School Planned For July 1 At New Wilmington Park

The various departments in the Daily Vacation Church school, being conducted at the Mahoning Methodist church, are competing in an attendance contest.

At the present time the beginners are in the lead, followed by the intermediates and the juniors. The primary department is coming along in last place.

Plans have been announced for a picnic at the community park at New Wilmington on Tuesday, July 1. Closing exercises for the school will be held on Thursday, July 3.

Architect Doing Final Work On Blue Prints For Addition To Church Here

Harry G. Boyd, chairman of the building committee for the Madison Avenue Christian church, has been informed by the architect working on the plans for the new addition to this church, that the blueprints will be ready the latter part of this week.
